

The Sumantra Ghoshal Conference on Managerially Relevant Research

Monday June 24th and Tuesday June 25th, 2024

Call for Papers

Deadline for submissions: February 23rd, 2024

The Strategy and Entrepreneurship Subject Area at London Business School invites you to submit research papers for presentation at the 16th Sumantra Ghoshal Conference on Managerially Relevant Research on June 24th and 25th, 2024, which will be held on the campus of London Business School.

The purpose of this invitation-only Conference is, in the spirit of our late colleague Sumantra Ghoshal, to bring together researchers who engage in high quality research which can also shape the way we practice management. We invite research presentations that not only meet the highest standards of academic rigour, but also create insights that are of value to practitioners – managers, consultants or policy makers.

London Business School Faculty will select a mix of submitted papers that complement each other.

We will extend an invitation to co-authors on selected papers to attend our conference. We expect faculty will present the selected paper. Those who submit a paper and are not selected will also be given priority consideration for an invitation to attend the Conference.

Submission Process

Papers should be submitted via an online form, available here.

Note that we welcome papers that are undergoing review/revision and earlier work. Please do not submit papers to the Conference which have already been accepted for publication in a journal at the time of submission.

When submitting the paper, you will be asked to provide a short description of the impact of the paper for managers and/or managerially-relevant policy.

If you have any additional substantive questions, please email one of the conference co-organizers, Casidhe Troyer (ctroyer@london.edu) or Sarath Balachandran (sbalachandran@london.edu) cc'ing Ciara Walsh (ghoshalconference@london.edu).

The deadline for submissions is February 23rd, 2024. Submissions selected for presentation will be notified by April 5th, 2024.

Please refer to the conference website for information on past conferences, and for further updates to our conference programme, panels, and guests.
