

The University of Alabama Culverhouse College of Business invites applicants for a tenure track advanced Assistant or Associate Professor position in International Business housed in the Department of Management, to begin Fall 2022.

Ideal candidates should demonstrate a strong record (or promise thereof in the case of Assistant rank) in both research and teaching. The candidate will help continue the rise of UA's research and teaching reputation, culture, and impact. We are open to a broad range of IB research foci but are especially interested in those focusing on IB-related aspects of strategy, entrepreneurship or organizational behavior. Although not required, we are interested in candidates willing to teach import/export management. At the graduate level, the college offers a Master's in Management with a focus in Global Business, and at the undergraduate level, the college offers an International Business Minor. Global business is also part of the curriculum for UA's MBA and EMBA programs. UA also offers a PhD in Management.

The University of Alabama is a leader among public universities nationwide in the enrollment of National Merit Scholars with more than 940 currently enrolled and is rated Carnegie R1: Doctoral Universities – Very High Research Activity status. The Culverhouse College of Business has an enrollment of 9,612 students (8,731 undergraduate students and 881 graduate students) representing all 50 states with 38.9% of students from Alabama, 58.8% from out-of-state. Of our out-of-state students the greatest numbers are from Georgia, Texas, Illinois, Florida, Tennessee, and California. The Culverhouse College of Business was ranked by U.S. News & World Report #44 in the nation overall and 28th among public business schools for 2020-2021. The college is accommodating its growing student population with the opening of the new 108,000 sq. ft. state-of-the-art Hewson Hall.

Tuscaloosa, the home of The University of Alabama, is a vibrant and growing city with a population of approximately 103,000. Tuscaloosa and the surrounding area offer a variety of Performing Arts, entertainment, and outdoor recreation options and the city has received a National Civic League All-America City Award. One main employer apart for the University is Mercedes-Benz, which has a favorable impact on the economy and helps mix European culture with Tuscaloosa's renowned southern hospitality. With pristine gulf shore beaches only a 5-hour drive from Tuscaloosa, mountains close in for hiking and cities like Birmingham, Atlanta, Nashville and New Orleans all within reach, Tuscaloosa is a great place to work, live and thrive.
