

Cornell SC Johnson College of Business

Bruce F. Failing, Sr. Professorship of Personal Enterprise and Small Business Management

Charles H. Dyson School of Applied Economics and Management Cornell SC Johnson College of Business Cornell University

The Cornell SC Johnson College of Business invites applicants for the Bruce F. Failing, Sr. Professor of Personal Enterprise and Small Business Management. The successful candidate is expected to be placed in the Charles H. Dyson School of Applied Economics and Management and in either the Management & Organizations or Strategy & Business Economics Areas. Appointment will be at the rank of Associate or Full Professor with tenure. The expected start date is July 1, 2020.

The Bruce F. Failing Professor is expected to establish a distinguished program of research (50%) and teaching (50%) in the management of entrepreneurship and innovation. It is expected that the candidate will teach undergraduate and/or graduate courses in entrepreneurship and innovation. The successful candidate will be expected to advise undergraduates, as well as M.S. and Ph.D. thesis research. All candidates will be expected to maintain a highly impactful program of research and teaching in these areas. Candidates will also be expected to take a leadership role in strengthening the College's research, instructional and co-curricular capabilities related to entrepreneurship and innovation and in fostering collaboration with faculty across areas. Candidates will be expected to engage with the rest of the University through the vibrant Entrepreneurship@Cornell ecosystem.

Desirable candidates should be at the interface of entrepreneurship and innovation and various fields, including but not limited to sociology, economics, strategy, management and organizations, and organizational behavior.

The Cornell SC Johnson College of Business (established on July 1, 2016) combines three Schools. The Samuel Curtis Johnson Graduate School of Management (Johnson), the Charles H. Dyson School of Applied Economics and Management (Dyson), and the School of Hotel Administration (Hotel School). The Management & Organizations Area and Strategy & Business Economics Area both include faculty from each of these three Schools. Dyson houses a top-ranked undergraduate business program as well as graduate programs that award Ph.D., M.S. and M.P.S. degrees. Faculty members in the Dyson School frequently collaborate with colleagues in Computer and Information Sciences, Economics, Engineering, Natural Resources, the New York City Tech campus, and other units on campus.

To be considered for this position, apply at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14447>. The position will remain open until filled. For full consideration please ensure that your application is complete by November 1, 2019.

The following materials are required:

1. Letter of interest, with clear indication of area and position being applied for;
2. Curriculum vitae;
3. Up to three research papers;
4. Statement of Diversity
5. Names of three references. References will only be contacted for finalist candidates;
6. Report of courses taught and evidence of teaching effectiveness

The Cornell SC Johnson College of Business embraces diversity in all its forms. Diversity and Inclusion are a part of Cornell University's heritage. We're an employer and educator recognized for valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities.

Cornell University actively seeks to meet the needs of dual-career couples with its Dual Career program, and is a member of the Upstate New York Higher Education Recruitment Consortium that assists with dual career searches.

Cornell University is an innovative Ivy League university and a great place to work. Our inclusive community of scholars, students and staff impart an uncommon sense of larger purpose and contribute creative ideas to further the university's mission of teaching, discovery and engagement. Located in Ithaca, NY, Cornell's far-flung global presence includes the medical college's campuses on the Upper East Side of Manhattan and Doha, Qatar, as well as the new Cornell Tech campus on Roosevelt Island in the heart of New York City.